

1 Question number Education is an essential part of our lives. We are nothing without knowledge, and education is what that separates us from others. The main step to acquire education is enrolling oneself in a school. School serves as a first learning place for most of the people. Similarly it is the first spark in receiving an education. My school is my second home where I spend most of my time. Above all it gives me a platform to do better in life and also builds my personality. I feel blessed to study in one of the most prestigious and esteem schools in the city. In addition to this, my school has a lot of assets which make me feel fortunate to be a part of it. In this essay, of my school, I will tell all why I love my school and what morals my school has taught me. Education is an essential part of everyone's life. We are nothing without education, education gives a new perspective to life and the way we look and approach it. If someone asked me, what I have learnt from my school, I won't be able to answer in one sentence. For the lessons are irreplaceable and I can never be thankful enough for them. I learned to share, I also learnt to be considerate towards animals, a place where I developed skills and participated in interschool competitions. I will always be indebted to my school for shaping my personality and teaching me invaluable lessons. End of solution.

2. Question number God created students and teachers on his sixth day of his overtime. Teachers should have touched the lives of many children. End of solution.

3. Question number Teacher must be at their student's level. He must be able to do 180 additional things which are not related to the subject. He must be able to communicate his vital knowledge to all the students daily. He must have more time for others than himself. End of solution.

4. Question number People find Orlando Attractive because he is young brave and ill treated. End of solution.

5. Question number It shows the banished duke, develops its character and routes interests in him and his fortune. End of solution.

6. "One pair is to see whether a student is doing and other have labelled to them. The second pair is the pair of eyes which is at the back of teacher's head to watch what should not be seen, but what must be known. The third pair is the eyes in the front which is only to look at the child 'acts out' in order to reflect, "I understood, and I still believe in you", without saying a word to the child. End of solution.

7. Question number For the joy and pride watching a child accomplishes even its smallest task to do. It is done for the loneliness of children who have a hard time to fit in it to compassionate feelings of their parents. This has been done when a teacher had to left the class and to say goodbye to his students and get ready to welcome a new class. End of solution.

8. Question number They were so poor that they could not afford to buy gifts to celebrate christmas. They were in a helpless condition. At last they decided to sell their beautiful valuable things to earn money to buy gifts for each other. It was a sign of great love and sacrifice for each other. Though there gifts were humble yet they seemed to contain all the wealth into them. End of solution.

9. Question number Mini walked into her father's room and began 'Dad our sentry Ramadayaal doesn't even know how to pronounce the word "crow". He is so backward'. She launched herself into another topic, 'See dad, Bhola was saying that when elephants lift water with their trunks and spray it from the sky, it rains. Dear, oh dear,! Bhola can speak such nonsense. He can rant day and night without making any sense!'. Without waiting for her father's reply, she asked him the next question, 'Dad, who is mum to you?'. There was no connection between the 3 questions that she asked her father. Her father mentions in the begining of the story that mini liked to talk all day long. It took her about a year after being born to acquire the talent for language, and since then she has not wasted a single wakeful moment of her entire life remaining silent. End of solution.

10. Question number These lines have been taken from the poem, 'The Heart of a Tree' by Henry Cuyler Bunar. The poet's comments on the advantages of planting a tree. The poem opens with a rhetorical question asking the reader what does the planting of a tree signify. The poet emphasizes that when a tree is planted, the sun and sky share their bounty like a friend with the earth. The tree which rises high helps in originating cool breezes, a home which is close to heaven for birds to nest in and nurture their young ones. The music created by the humming poet reiterates that these are all the things that are created when a tree is planted.